September Event:

Work/Life Balance for Women in the Environmental Industry

Please join us for an evening of networking and lively discussion around the topic of “Work/Life Balance” for women in the environmental industry. Women face unique challenges in the workplace and are faced with balancing career goals with family, children, household and other personal goals. Whether you are dealing with caring for a family member, going back to school while working full/part time, starting a family, or pursuing other personal goals, come and share your experiences, tips and stories with other women in the environmental field.

Thursday September 18, 2008
